Brand New Book  Print on Demand .In the 109th Congress, key drinking water issues have involved water infrastructure funding and problems caused by specific contaminants, such as the gasoline additive methyl tertiary butyl ether (MTBE), perchlorate, and lead in drinking water. Congress last reauthorized the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) in 1996, and although funding authority for most SDWA programs expired in FY2003, reauthorization bills have not been proposed, as the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), states, and water systems remain focused on implementing the requirements of the 1996 amendments. One SDWA amendment has been enacted in the 109th Congress. The Energy Policy Act of 2005, Section 322, amended SDWA to preclude the EPA from regulating the injection of any fluids, except diesel fuel, into underground sources of drinking water for hydraulic fracturing purposes related to oil, gas, and geothermal production. Congress also has considered legislation to address concerns about drinking water contamination by perchlorate, the key ingredient in solid rocket fuel. The House passed H.R. 18 and H.R. 186, which would establish groundwater remediation programs in California, where most perchlorate contamination has been identified. Other bills would direct the EPA to issue a SDWA standard for perchlorate. The 107th Congress added drinking water security provisions to the SDWA in the Bioterrorism Preparedness Act. The act required community water systems to conduct vulnerability assessments and prepare emergency plans, and it called for drinking water security research. In the 109th Congress, several bills, including a reported bill, S. 2145, would add further water security requirements for certain water systems. An overriding SDWA issue involves the cumulative cost and complexity of drinking water standards and the ability of water systems, especially small systems, to comply with standards....
